Why students want to participate in mobilities?

video clip

The planning process of the mobilities

- finding interested pupils
- looking for partners
- coming to an agreement with the partners about logistics
- joint parents-pupil meeting at school
- signing agreements with pupils
- planning the activities pupils will have during the stay in the partner school
- pupils' feedback about the mobility

Possible problems while organizing the mobilities

- pupils' age and homesickness
- religious differences
- abilities to host foreign students
- pupils lose interest
- pupils do not want to miss lessons at school
- teachers do not know English
- project partners do not reply to mails quickly

What schools can gain after the mobility

- the pupils and teachers will have learned about the school system of the hosting country
- the pupils and teachers will have learned about the cultural heritage of the hosting country
- both teachers and pupils will have become more motivated to participate in European projects

- the pupils and teachers will have shared their experience about dealing with different school issues
- the pupils will have developed the chance to see the good points in their own school and education system
- the teachers will have got new methods of teaching their subjects

The challenges projects offer and ask

- the project people have to be ready to step out of their daily routine zone
- the project people have to be flexible as the planned project activities can change
- pupils' actions sometimes are not predictable
- the chance learn new things and share experience
